Current, Local Pay and Benefits Data Now Available ...Don't Forget to Order Your Report!

We're pleased to announce that the latest edition of the 2008 CompAnalysis Greater San Francisco Bay Area Compensation Survey has just been released. This is the only report that is exclusively focused on up-to-date pay and benefits data, this year reporting salaries and related information from 154 local employers representing more than 40,000 employees within the nine Bay Area and two Central Coast counties.

As most of you know, the S.F. Bay Area is the highest paid metropolitan area in the U.S. According to the latest National Compensation Survey conducted by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U.S. Department of Labor, salaries here, on average, are 19 percent above the national average. This means that local pay data are a must for establishing job-specific compensation levels for the jobs in your organization.

The 175-page CompAnalysis survey will provide you with pay data on 87 generic staff jobs found in a wide range of organizations with details by organizational size, industry and "micro-market" within the Bay Area. It is specifically designed to supplement industry-specific surveys.

The survey also includes data on employee benefits, salary increases, employee turnover, and human resources policies. It's just what you need to make sure your salary and benefits levels are competitive with current, local labor market rates and practices.
